

Values Education

Our value for this particular month is Quality

Quality can be defined as:

- The amount of excellence of something as measured against other similar things
- General excellence
- Outstanding attribute or characteristic

This is how some children have defined quality:

Working together to get quality work in your books.

Your teachers want you to have high standards and quality work; they plan good lessons so you can always do your best.

We all need friends of good quality

Through our collective worship, we have considered that, those who think they can and those who think they can't are both right...

...so, we say in our heads and out loud, 'I can and I will'.

Our thoughts need to be of high quality; quality thoughts lead to quality words, lead to quality actions.

Being the best we can

Paul's letter to the Philippians - ch 4.v 8

And now, my friends, all that is true, all that is noble, all that is just and pure, all that is loveable and attractive, whatever is excellent and admirable - fill your thoughts with these things.

The apostle Paul in his many letters to the churches was keen to encourage excellence among the Christian community. Not because he wanted high-achieving Christians but because he wanted them to offer of their very best to God.

Think About Qualities of successful parents...

Identify good qualities in your children.

Make time daily to spend with your kids.

Communicate positively with your children.

Listen attentively

Be willing to change.

Do not allow your children to disrespect you or your spouse.

Don't argue with your spouse in front of the children.

Tell your children you love them.
(Taken from 'The Family Fun Shop')

Values Newsletter - Quality

April/May
2013